Hi Jacob,

The driveway you have referred to that is currently serving 1351 Hwy 201 Adrian, OR is a legal access that was permitted by our office in 2008.

It does not appear to me that the existing driveway is abutting your property 22S 46E Sec. 2 5 TL300 it looks like it abuts the property to the north (TL200). There are no restrictions to the highway or access controls so you could use the access legally if you can strike a deal with the owner of that property for an access easement to cross their property.

Simply allowing another dwelling to use the existing driveway does not trigger a change of use or require anything further from ODOT. You can share this e-mail with Eric Evans and it should suffice to show the access is legal. If you need more or need clarification, feel free to call or e-mail.

Thanks,

John Eden
